ATTENDANCE POLICY:

Students are expected to attend each class and be on time. All students are responsible for material covered in the classroom regardless of his/her presence. Three or more unexcused absences will result in the deduction of one complete letter grade. Doctor's appointments, job-related activities, interviews, study sessions or other meetings during class are not an excused absence.

RELIGIOUS HOLY DAY POLICY:

It is the student's obligation to provide faculty members with notice of the dates they will be absent for religious holy days, preferably before the beginning of classes but no later than the end of the first three (3) class days. Absences due to observance of religious holy days not pre-arranged within the first three class days may be considered unexcused and there is no obligation to allow any make up work, including examinations. Missing a class due to travel plans associated with a particular religious holy day does not constitute an excused absence. The University's complete Religious Holy Day Policy can be found in the current Bulletin.

HONOR CODE AND PLAGIARISM STATEMENTS:

Students enrolled in this course are expected to abide by the University of Miami Honor Code. The purpose of the Honor Code is to protect the academic integrity of the University by encouraging consistent ethical behavior in assigned coursework. Academic dishonesty of any kind, for whatever reason, will not be tolerated.

No honest student wants to be guilty of the intellectual crime of plagiarism, even unintentionally. Therefore, we provide you with these guidelines so that you don't accidentally fall into the plagiarism trap.

Plagiarism is the taking of someone else's words, work, or ideas, and passing them off as a product of your own efforts. Plagiarism may occur when a person fails to place quotation marks around someone else's exact words, directly rephrasing or paraphrasing someone else's words while still following the general form of the original, and/or failing to issue the proper citation to one's source material. In student papers, plagiarism is often due to...

- 1. turning in someone else's paper as one's own
- 2. using another person's data or ideas without acknowledgment
- 3. failing to cite a written source (printed or Internet) of information that you used to collect data or ideas
- 4. copying an author's exact words and putting them in the paper without quotation marks
- 5. rephrasing an author's words and failing to cite the source
- 6. copying, rephrasing, or quoting an author's exact words and citing a source other than where the material was obtained. (For example, using a secondary source which cites the original material, but citing only the primary material. This misrepresents the nature of the scholarship involved in creating the paper. If you have not read an original publication, do not cite it in your references as if you have!)
- 7. using wording that is very similar to that of the original source, but passing it off as one's own.

The last item is probably the most common problem in student writing. It is still plagiarism if the student uses an author's key phrases or sentences in a way that implies they are his/her own, even if s/he cites the source.

In creative assignments, plagiarism is often due to...

- Copying, sampling, or modifying someone else's media or code without attribution or doing so when original work is expected or required for the assignment.
- Using stock imagery or media from a Creative Commons source without proper attribution.
- Removing source code licensing and attribution information and passing it off as your own.
- Using media without knowledge or documentation of copyrights, licensing, and other use restrictions.
